Santa Cruz County Parks has issued a Call to Artists for site-specific public art at the Ben Lomond Transfer Station in Santa Cruz County.

The 30-year-old Transfer Station facility is in need of repairs and renovations to maintain safety, manage stormwater, and provide improved service. The renovation project includes installing a larger metal canopy over the hazardous household waste area, installing a new canopy over the recycling area, upgrades to the electrical systems, and installing an overhead directional sign at the scale house.

The budget for the project is $103,000. A "Call to Artists," which includes detailed information about the RFP process, a project map, and sample contract are available on the County Parks website at
